Price leadership has always been secondary to brilliant engineering quality in HUDSON'S great public acknowledgment as the World's Greatest Buy. The attraction of amazing price advantage made possible by its position as world's largest producer of 6-cylinder cars merely puts in the reach of added thousands the qualities, comforts, and performance for which the HUDSON Super Six is famous. A demonstration will be gladly arranged at any time you may prefer.

BIG LABOUR FEUDS CONTINUE.

ALL NEWSPAPERS CEASE.

In the "Red" and "anti-Red" feud in Canton, since August 1st, when the two factions of the labour movement in the Vegetable Guild started a skirmish, with the result that three workers were killed and a number wounded, street warfare among the workers has been frequent.

Not a day passed last week without bloodshed among the rival unions representing two distinct political camps—the Workers' Delegate Conference, directed by the Kuomintang, and the Central Labour Union, composed of opponents to the Communist Party.

MANY CASUALTIES.
For the time being, the two general or federated organisations—the Conference and the Central Union are only engaged in verbal warfare, each bringing charges against the other in petitions to the Government, and in newspaper statements; but some of the members, such as the restaurant workers, have come to blows.

The Government has so far made no arrests, despite the large casualty list to date. Nearly 50 have been killed and scores of wounded among the workers of rival Unions. The authorities have, however, ordered the police and the Army to disarm all gunmen and boxers of the Unions, and has also instructed the Chief of the Labour Union to form a special Commission to include three representatives from each of the two federated labour organisations.

NO NEWSPAPERS.

Printers of a number of Kuomintang propaganda agencies, as well as of the two Kuomintang newspapers in Canton, also walked out on Sunday, and there will thus be no newspapers publishing in Canton from that date. The Government, in explanation, says the printers merely wished to have a holiday for agitating against the resumption of the Tariff Conference at Peking and no political significance is to be attached to this action, but in other quarters it is believed that demands for higher wages are involved.

As demanded by the Postmen's Union, the authorities in Canton have erected two triumphal arches to welcome the postmen on the resumption of work to-day.

As one of the means of raising funds for the benefit of the Northern expedition, the Government is proposing to tax all opium monopoly. Smokers, according to their degree of habit, are to be divided into four classes. Those who are confirmed smokers are to be taxed annually $10; and others $7, $4, and $1 respectively. All smokers have to wear a badge when smoking.

SOVIET PROTEST.

A Soviet political adviser to the Kuomintang, M. Garokoff, is reported to have joined in a Chinese petition praying the Army General Headquarters not to go far in pressing the inhabitants in the interior for subscriptions to war bonds. In his opinion, some of the methods resorted to have no precedent in Soviet Russia.

The commander and six other officers of the Canton river gunboat Kwong Wah were arrested the other day for irregular deals in coal purchases, but officers and men of other gunboats have joined in a protest against the infliction of corporal punishment to exact confessions.

PIRACY NIPPED IN BUD?

REVOLVERS FOUND ON "SUIYANG."

FIVE ARRESTS MADE.

It is believed that a scheme to pirate the China Navigation Company's steamer Suiyang, after she had left Hongkong on Sunday for Shanghai, has been frustrated by the arrest of five Chinese who went aboard as passengers, and the discovery of a number of fully-loaded revolvers cleverly hidden in three pairs of boots.

The Suiyang left yesterday for Shanghai, but prior to her departure Sergeant Barnicle and a party of detectives, acting on information received, went aboard and carried out a search under the Piracy Prevention Ordinance.

An extensive search of the vessel was made, during the course of which the police found three pairs of boots, all of which contained a fully-loaded revolver, concealed in false soles.

Following further investigations, the police took into custody five Chinese passengers who had booked through to Shanghai, and these men were this morning brought before Mr. J. H. B. Nihill at the Kowloon Magistracy.

It was intimated that the charge against these men would be heard by two Magistrates sitting together, and the case was accordingly adjourned until Friday afternoon for this purpose.

LOCAL CRIME.

LIGHT LIST AT POLICE COURT.

Several minor cases of larceny, and two in which charges of assault and battery were preferred, constituted the Monday morning's criminal list before the Magistrates at the Central Police Courts to-day.

For the theft of a quantity of tin-solder, the value of which was trifling, an apprentice at the Taikee Docks was sentenced to four weeks.

Another boy was ordered to receive eight strokes with the birch on failing to give a satisfactory explanation of how he came into possession of a quantity of metal, of an equally trifling value.

Three women from Aberdeen, on being questioned on a charge of assaulting a fourth woman, said that the wound received by the latter in the leg was caused through her falling on the tip of an anchor. They were remanded for a week to enable the police to go more thoroughly into the story of an alleged quarrel amongst these women.

Two scavenger coolies who were unable to agree over the ownership of a broom, appeared in Court as a result of an assault charge brought against the one by the other. The offender was fined $5.

COAL DISPUTE.

MINERS ENDORSE CHURCH PROPOSALS.

Rugby, Aug. 8. The majority of the mining districts have, it is believed, endorsed the proposals for the settlement of the coal dispute which were drawn up by the Church leaders and the Miners' Federation Executive. The next move of the Executive, which will meet in London on Tuesday, is uncertain, but the Minister of Labour and the Secretary for Mines will remain in London this week in case there should be any development.

The Prime Minister will also return from Worcestershire towards the end of the week.—British Wireless.

ACT OF MUTINY.

LASCAR FIREMEN GIVE TROUBLE.

THE MAXIMUM PENALTY.

Discontent amongst Lascar firemen on the a.s. City of Corinth, beginning in the North Atlantic with a complaint that they were being unnecessarily pushed, and culminating in serious trouble in Manila, led to the appearance in the dock at the Marine Court this morning, of nine firemen, charged with continued wilful disobedience of the lawful commands of the master.

Mr. L. R. Andrews appeared for the prosecution, and he applied for permission to add two further charges to that already against the accused. The Bank Line had suffered considerable inconvenience, and wished to press the case. The Company were pressing in the hope that the men would be made an example of. The charges he wished to add were (a) wilful disobedience of the master's orders and (b) combining to disobey.

NOT NECESSARY.

Lieut. Commr. G. F. Hole, the Marine Magistrate, said that he had read the evidence taken on oath in Manila and did not think it was necessary to add further charges. Even if the charges were added and he found them guilty on all three counts, he would be disposed to make the sentences run concurrently.

Mr. Andrews:—How can you say before you have heard the evidence?

NOT CRIMINAL.

The Marine Magistrate:—I don't think I would give any seaman more than three months for this offence. To my mind it is merely a technical offence. In civil life their action would not be regarded as a criminal offence, nor as an act against the moral code.

The charge was read over to the accused and they pleaded not guilty. A complaint that they were tired, made when the vessel was within a day's steaming of Gibraltar, on June 23rd, was the first sign of discontent, said Captain Gerald J.D. Burton, the master of the a.s. City of Corinth, giving evidence to-day.

PUSHED AT TOP SPEED.

The men sent a deputation to him, and they urged that as the vessel was not a passenger boat, and was not carrying mails, there was no reason why the steamer should be pushed at top speed.

As we were endeavouring to do, the master added. They asked to be paid off at Colombo, but as they had contracted for 12 months from February, he refused. The men slackened off subsequently and steam was constantly below boiler power. He charged a man whom he considered the ringleader at Colombo for refusal to obey orders and for using insolent abusive language, and after that the men worked better until Manila was reached.

SHORE PASSES REFUSED.

Here the men applied for shore passes, but in view of the severe U.S. penalties regarding deserters, he refused. The nine men before the Court stated that they would not work if they were not permitted the following morning that the men had declined to leave their quarters. He had them before him at 9.30 a.m. on August 4th and asked their grievance. They demanded passes which he refused. He made them an offer that if they resumed duty they would be paid off at Singapore on the return trip, but the men refused, declaring that they would prefer to go to jail.

H. M. Vice-Consul and Consul-General boarded the City of Corinth and informed the men of the serious nature of their offence, and on their further refusal, he (the master) was instructed to take them to Hongkong, and, if

FRANCE'S LETTER TO AMERICA.

A PROMISSORY NOTE COMEDY.

"FRANCE NOT FOR SALE."

Paris, August 6.

In the course of his open letter to President Coolidge on the subject of war debts, M. Clemenceau says that he is confident the eyes of the man in the street will soon be opening to the comprehensive outlook. To-day most of France's anxiety is centred in America. If nations become merely commercial houses then banking accounts would govern the fate of the world. You demand payment of our debt, yet you know as well as we that our purse is empty. You are asking us to sign promissory notes, but the secret of the comedy is that it is a question of fictitious dates, and the promissory notes will end in alliance with a mortgage on our national property. France is not for sale, even to her friends. She will remain independent. Would President Coolidge feel otherwise if America were involved? Britain and America, like France, threw their all into the

SHANGHAI MAN WOUNDED.

Shanghai, Aug. 9. Mr. W. J. Elliott, one of the Clerks of Works in the Public Works Department, was driving in Keswick Road last evening when five robbers stopped his car, wounded him and robbed him of $60.

It is reported that Mr. Elliott was not ordered to stop, but that a shot, fired at him without warning, pierced his left arm and slightly wounded him in the chest.

abyss, but it was French territory which was scientifically ravaged. During three mortal years, while the blood and money flowed from all our pores, we awaited America's word that she would come. Read the unending lists of our killed and compare if you like—the strong sap of our lost youth. Isn't that a banking account? Like Russia at Brest-Litovsk, America concluded a separate peace with Germany. To-day there is talk of a money peace between the Allied and Associated Powers. Why didn't we, under shellfire, summon a Council of Administration of Profiteers to decide whether we were allowed to defend ourselves? The result is that America is gathering all funds.

M. Clemenceau concludes:—"I have spoken freely to the honoured head of a great people which I thought was destined to carry the torch of ideal ever higher, and it behoves him to render judgment on himself."—Reuter's American Service.

ACT OF MUTINY.

The steamer was ready for sea shortly after four o'clock that afternoon, but the nine men now charged plucked the door of the stokehold, trying to force their way down on deck, and refusing to allow others to go below.

Lieut. Commr. Hole:—If what you say is correct, it amounts to an act of mutiny.

Captain Burton:—The ship has no fire-arms, and I secured revolvers so that the loyal men could take them to Hongkong, and, if

CHINESE WAR.

CHANG KAI-SHEK IN COMMAND.

WHAMPOA CADETS LEAVE.

With regard to the Hunan war, General Chang Kai-shek has reported to the Canton Government his arrival at Pun Chow on the 3rd inst., and has ordered the Light Artillery and Machine Gun Corps of the Cadets at Whampoa to proceed to the front at once. These left Canton on the 5th instant by train for Shuiwan. General Chang has now assumed supreme command of all the forces in the field and is directing the movements of the various units.

A Chinese news agency reports that the strictest censorship is being imposed on all news relating to the movements of the troops. All that can be said is that the whole of the Revolutionary Army is on the move. The battlefront is a long one, extending from Cheung Teh, in the western part of Hunan, by a straight line to Ping Shing, in Kiangsi, and it will require the employment of from 150,000 to 200,000 men in order to secure the two objectives—Wuchang and Nanchang. This force General Chang Kai-shek has under his command, but it remains to be seen whether his artillery and machine guns will be superior to the Northern equipment. As regards generalship, the Southern Army is believed to be superior.

INVASION OF KIANGSI.

General Chu Pui-tok reported his arrival at Changsha some days ago, and stated that he is proceeding to Kiangsi to assume command of his 3rd Army Corps.

The Party Organisation of the Kuomintang in Canton has telegraphed to Shanghai to the effect that the order for the invasion of Kiangsi has been given, and that all officers of the Kuomintang in Shanghai, Soochow and Nanking, are to assemble at Canton without delay.

From Whampoa, it is stated that lighters are again being commandeered for service in expectation of the arrival of the Soviet steamer of the Volunteer Fleet, with a large consignment of arms and ammunition.

TACTICS EXPLAINED.

The war in Hunan has now been in progress for over a month, and the Kwangtung forces have for the most part been concentrating on the frontiers of Kiangsi and Hunan. In previous reports it has not been possible to give a correct account of the disposition of the Revolutionary Army, owing, firstly, to the very strict censorship in the field, and secondly, to the detours made by the units in order to arrive at certain designated strategic points.

It is now explained that the main force of the 10th and 11th Divisions of the 4th Army, were supposed to be investing Changsha, but at a certain point, at which it was thought that they were attacking Lai Yung and vicinity, these two units, detoured eastward, and co-operated with the right flank of Tang Sung-chi's army. They thus effected the capture of Ping Shing, an important point on the frontier of Kiangsi, which rendered critical the military situation of Nanchang. Again, one of the super-disciplined Divisions was supposed to have arrived at a certain place to await further orders from the Commander-in-Chief, but it turns out that a part of the crack Division was rushed up just in time to make a complete defeat of Ho Yow-tsu, and capture the city of Chang Teh, thus driving the Northern Army out of the western part of Hunan and establishing free communication with Kweichow without the fear of being intercepted in the rear.

FIRE APPLIANCE MISHAP.

CHINESE FIREMAN SENT TO HOSPITAL.

CLUB'S FALSE ALARM.

Whilst returning to the Central Fire Station this morning, after being called to the Hongkong Club on a false alarm, No. 6 fire appliance, which is an ordinary fire engine equipped with an escape, skidded and collided with a pillar on the south side of Union Building, at the corner of Pedder Street and Charter Road. The mishap, occurring at 9.53, resulted in injuries to one of the firemen, who was removed to the Government Civil Hospital, and in considerable damage to the appliance, which was immediately put out of commission.

The injuries received by the fireman were to the chest, and were probably caused by his being thrown forward by the impact against a structural part of the vehicle. After the mishap, the motor ambulance was dispatched from the Central Fire Station, and in this the man was taken to Hospital.

Considerable damage was caused to the radiator of the appliance, which being put out of commission, had to be towed back to the Fire Station. This vehicle will not be available for some time, but repairs which have been commenced on the escape ladder will enable ladder to be put into service on some other machine as early as to-morrow, if needed.

It is interesting to note that this is the second instance of a false alarm of fire from the Hongkong Club within the past few weeks. In both cases the call was sent through the accidental operation of the electric fire-alarm device at the Club which is connected directly to the Fire Station.

A SERIOUS MISSION.

EMPIRE PARLIAMENTARIANS TO MEET.

Rugby, Aug. 8.

The Colonial Secretary, Mr. Amery, was present at Waterloo Station, London, yesterday, to bid farewell to the British delegates of the Empire Parliamentary Association who sailed later in the day from Southampton to Canada, en route to Australia. Southampton, where they were joined by the Irish Free State delegates, they were accorded a civic send off.

Replying to a speech by the Mayor of Southampton, Mr. Arthur Henderson, who in the absence of the Marquis of Salisbury who has already left, is the senior member of the Delegation, said the tour was a serious mission. The delegation was inclusive of all political parties and at the Conference in Australia many important questions would be discussed. They must do everything they possibly could to apply the great resources of these young nations not merely to prevent depression of the standards of life, but so that the whole community might share in the developments which might take place. Secondly, they wanted a more scientific redistribution of population throughout the Empire, as a whole. They hoped by these meetings to make the Empire more solid and united.—British Wireless.

MANILA STRIKE.

THE CIGAR FACTORY STOPPAGE.

WAGE CUT ESSENTIAL.

"Unless our cigar makers agree to a decreased wage scale, we shall be forced to install machines in order to continue production," said Mr. Antonio Rosales, manager of La Flor de la Isabela cigar factory, in a statement to the Manila Bulletin last week. The statement of Mr. Rosales is indicative of the general feeling among the large manufacturers whose factories are closed because the cigar makers will not accept reduced wages. Five factories employing 4,000 workers are at present idle.

La Flor de la Isabela shut down three weeks ago, with orders practically nil and a large stock on hand, after its employers had failed to agree to a reduced wage scale. The factory now seeks a wage reduction of 20 per cent.

SITUATION EXPLAINED.

The manufacturer's explanation of the situation is this:—In March of this year the 50 per cent. internal revenue tax reduction on cigars sold in the United States went into effect, enabling American manufacturers, in conjunction with a decreased cost of production, to lower the price of their seven and eight cent cigars to five cents and to place them in competition with the five cent Philippine cigar, which has had a clear market in the United States since the war. Not all American cigars of this grade have been lowered, but more are being added to the list each week.

The Philippine producer sells almost entirely through an American importer. He does not market direct. His importer has written to him and said, "We cannot market your cigars on our present margin of profit. We must have a greater margin in order to advertise and retain the hold that the Philippine cigar has on the American public. The reduced scale of prices of the American cigar already is making a big hold in our sales. Unless you can reduce your price to us by 30 or 20 per cent. we shall be unable to place any more orders."

THE ONLY WAY.

So the Philippine manufacturer says, "The only way to reduce my price is to reduce my cost of operation. The main item in my cost of operation is labour. Therefore I must cut wages. Otherwise I will make no sales, be forced to discontinue the making of cigars for the United States market, and lose that market. I will cut wages."

The cigar maker objects, and hence the present situation.

Local factories, together with the American producers, saved $2 per 1,000 cigars when the new tax went into effect. The old tariff was $4 per 1,000. Mr. Rosales of La Flor de la Isabela points out that this saving, together with the 20 or 30 per cent. which could be effected in wages, will go entirely to the importer and will be spent for propaganda to retain the supremacy of the five cent Philippine cigar in the United States.

Mr. Timmerberg of the Alhambra cigar and cigarette manufacturing company makes a slightly different statement. According to him, the importer is asking also for a better cigar. The money saved from the proposed wage cut and the tax reduction will be spent partly in improving the quality of the Alhambra product for United States export, but the greater part will go to the importer for advertising.—(Continued on Page 16.)

THE COAL PROBLEM.

CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP
SUGGESTIONS.

Rugby, Aug. 7.
The proposals of the Industrial Christian Fellowship for settling the coal dispute which, with certain modifications, were approved by the miners delegate conference and referred to districts are still being discussed in the coal fields. Ninety per cent. of the Derbyshire Miners Association have reached decisions and by about five to one have voted in favour of acceptance of these terms as a basis of negotiation. It is reported that feeling in Scottish mining areas is keenly divided and a suggestion is advanced that a ballot of all miners instead of vote by branches should be taken. North Wales, Nottingham, Warwickshire and Durham are reported to be voting in favour. There is a good deal of opposition in Yorkshire but the result is as yet unknown. It is already stated that Lancashire is against acceptance as also is the Forest of Dean.

Unchanged.
Meanwhile the position in the coal fields remains unchanged. Good order which throughout has characterised the conduct of the miners still prevails. With the exception of Warwickshire where a slowly increasing number of men are resuming work, pits are idle although a considerable number of Nottinghamshire and Derbyshire miners are working outcrop coal. It is reported that owners in these counties are considering a new offer on terms which the newspapers believe may attract men back to work next week. Meanwhile the condition prevailing among the mining population is receiving much attention, and exaggerated statements are corrected in a message which has been given to the United Press of America. Mr. Baldwin gives denial to reports which have been circulated that starvation prevails among miners' families and to the frequent assertion that the coal dispute is merely a first step to a general attack upon hours and wages by the Government. —British Wireless.

GERMAN'S NASTY EXPERIENCE.

LED SHACKLED THROUGH FOOCHOW.

Foochow, Aug. 7.
Mr. Otto Heinsohn, a German employed since March as a tea man in the American firm of Browster and Company, has been arrested without a warrant under orders of the Fukien Tupan. Mr. Heinsohn was taken shackled through the principal streets of Foochow and thrown into the common military prison.

The cause of arrest is believed to be that Heinsohn was once employed by Wilhelm Pfeng, who left Foochow last September after receiving from the Tupan a considerable sum for the purchase of arms and munitions which Pfeng was unable to deliver owing to the refusal of the German Government to permit export without a permit from the Central Government which the Tupan could not obtain.

It is believed that Heinsohn knew nothing of the arms deal, being solely Pfeng's tea man. It is understood that the Tupan refuses to release Heinsohn even on bail till the latter signs a bond to reimburse the Tupan the amount advanced to Pfeng or deliver the arms.

The civil authorities are powerless to grant Heinsohn his fundamental legal rights. The prisoner must supply his own food and other necessities. —Reuter.

WAR DEBTS.

FRENCH OPEN LETTER TO AMERICA.

Paris, Aug. 8.
M. Poincaré has hitherto carried all before him in connection with his proposals to reestablish French finances on a sound basis, but now he has received a check. This has arisen in reference to a desire to obtain the immediate ratification of the debt agreements with Britain and America.

Resolute opposition to this has appeared among some members of the Cabinet whose objection is directed more against the latter agreement than the former. The Prime Minister, therefore, has decided to mark time.

The Finance Committee of the Chamber has agreed to the suggestion of a number of its members that a Sub-Committee of fifteen be appointed to examine the interrelated debt documents during recess. The Committee in the meantime will defer hearing M. Poincaré's statement. —Reuter.

M. Clemenceau has sent an open letter to President Coolidge stating that the Anglo-French-American debts problem is menacing the future of civilisation, and asks whether there are not other sides to the question to be considered, besides the commercial.

He says: "You demand payment of our debt, yet you know our purse is empty." —Reuter's American Service.

New York, Aug. 7.
The American railways were more prosperous in the first half of 1926 than in any similar period of their history, accumulating profits of nearly half a billion dollars.

If the same ratio of increase is maintained throughout the year, which depends largely on the crop movement, the profits for 1926, according to the Bureau of Railway Economics, should be about $1,200,000,000, compared with $1,136,000,000 in 1925. The last six months, in consequence of heavy autumn traffic, is expected to contribute 58 per cent. of the total. —Reuter.

LEAGUE SEATS.

COMMITTEE'S RECOMMENDATION REGARDING THEM.

Rugby, August 8.
It seems probable that a special committee of the League of Nations appointed to consider the composition of the League Council will hold a meeting of the Council, which is due to begin on September 2. At its earlier meeting this special committee unanimously accepted a scheme submitted by Lord Cecil for the allocation of nine non-permanent seats. But no recommendations were made with regard to permanent seats and the committee adjourned sine die on June 26 in the hope that the difficulty with regard to the clash of Brazil and Spain might be removed in the interval. Spain has now asked for a further session. Although apprehensions are said to prevail in Berlin that controversies might arise at such a meeting that will hamper Germany's speedy admission to the League, it is pointed out here that whatever further recommendations might be made by this advisory body the allocation of seats to individual Powers would remain a matter upon which the Assembly would in any case decide of its own free will. —British Wireless.

A YOUNG RASCAL.

CONVICTED ON SIX OCCASIONS.

A fifteen-year-old Chinese was convicted before Mr. J. H. B. Nibell at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday for larceny from the person of a Chinese of the sum of 35 cents. This was his sixth conviction.

From the evidence it appeared that during a performance at a theatrical maled in Hinghom on Thursday night the defendant attempted to pick the pocket of one of the audience. His act was detected and the alarm raised. The defendant ran away but rushed right into the arms of Sub-Inspector Clark, who was in the audience.

The defendant's criminal record showed that since 1920, he had been cased on two occasions, sentenced to six months' hard labour twice, while on the other occasion he received a sentence of three months.

His Worship on Saturday ordered another caging, the defendant to receive twelve strokes. He was also placed under Police supervision for two years.

COUNTER-ATTACK LAUNCHED.

COVERING RETIREMENT FROM NANKOW.

Peking, Aug. 7.
Heavy gunfire was heard in Peking this morning and afternoon. The Chinese military authorities assert that the Kuomintang is counter-attacking with a view to covering a retirement from Nankow to Yenching, adding that this morning's attacks were repulsed but that the Kuomintang renewed the assaults this afternoon and that fighting continues. —Reuter.

Fengtien Success Reported.

Peking, Aug. 8.
It is unofficially stated in military circles this morning that news has been received to the effect that Nankow Pass was captured by Fengtien and allied troops at nine o'clock last night, but no official confirmation is hitherto forthcoming. —Reuter.

CANDLES IN PHILIPPINES.

WHY USE IS DECREASING.

A steadily decreasing demand for candles and paraffin wax in the Philippine Islands, with little reason to believe that improvement may be expected, is indicated in a recent report on an exhaustive study of the various factors affecting the domestic market for these products made by O. M. Butler, American trade commissioner in Manila, to the federal bureau of foreign and domestic trade in Washington.

Mr. Butler has pointed out in the report that the consumption of candles for religious purposes will continue, but use for illumination is gradually becoming less important with the extension of electric lighting system and construction of others.

Electricity Popular.

There are 59 electric light plants in the islands fairly well distributed throughout the territory and some of these serve several different villages, says the report. The number of such establishments is constantly being added to and it is reasonable to assume that eventually all cities and towns of any size will be supplied with electric current.

No statistics showing the production or consumption of candles in the islands have been compiled and doubt is expressed in the report if accurate figures covering these items can be obtained. It says that the bulk of the demand for candles is supplied by the product of ten or 12 small Chinese factories engaged exclusively in candle making.

Mr. Butler has estimated that approximately 4,000,000 pounds of paraffin candles are produced annually in the Philippines and about 350,000 pounds of stearic candles. Adding to this estimated imports of candles amounting to 34,290 pounds results in an estimated annual consumption of nearly 4,400,000 pounds.

Much Used in Churches.

The greater part of the candles consumed in the Philippines are used for religious purposes, continues the report. These are dipped candles, manufactured by the Chinese. The candles used for house illumination rank second in importance and this demand is supplied partly by the native moulded candle and partly by the imported product.

There are about 20,000 automobiles in the islands and the number is constantly increasing, but the bulk of passenger transportation is still handled by "calesas," a small two wheeled vehicle drawn by a pony and using a short, thick candle in carriage lights. There is also a limited consumption of candles for use in steamer lights and of hard stearic candle by tinsmiths.

The United States and the Dutch East Indies are principal exporters to the Islands of paraffin products. Importation shows an increasing tendency. In 1922, the United States brought in 700,395 pounds and the Dutch East Indies 2,085,000 pounds; in 1923, it increased to 774,295 pounds from United States and 2,502,000 pounds from the Dutch East Indies; and in 1924, 1,829,217 pounds from the United States and 2,217,600 from the Dutch East Indies.

At a debate the Oxford Union discussed whether fox-hunting should be made "a criminal practice," and by 32 votes to 27 decided it should be.

GERMAN TRADE.

NOT FAR BEHIND 1915 FIGURES.

Berlin, August 7.
The remarkable post-war recovery of German trade is demonstrated by the fact that exports for the first six months of 1926 are only 280,000,000 marks lower than the corresponding period in 1913. Exports during the last six months totalled 4,768,000,000 marks, and imports 4,232,000,000 marks. It is semi-officially pointed out that although the figures indicate a considerable improvement in the economic position the population gets no advantage even from the most favourable active trade balance in view of obligations and losses in connexion with the Versailles treaty. —Reuter.

CANADIAN POLITICS.

Although we hear very little of it in this part of the world there is a grave political situation in Canada; not the least important aspect of which is the position of the Dominion vis-a-vis the Mother Country. In order to understand the position aright it is necessary to recapitulate a little recent history.
Mr. Mackenzie King, who was Prime Minister a few months ago, was the head of a "minority Government," holding office by virtue of the fact that certain independent Members promised support for his Liberal cabinet. The Conservatives, headed by Mr.
Meighen, constituted the largest single party, but could not command a majority in the House.
Thus it was that Mr. King's party went into office. Then came several defeats in the House, after which Mr. King claimed that Parliament should be dissolved and a new election held. Mr. Meighen opposed this, saying that he should be given opportunity of testing the support for a Conservative Government in Parliament.
In Canada a great deal of importance is attached to the holding of office while the elections are in progress, as the Government of the day is supposed to be able to exercise a considerable influence.
Mr. King wanted a dissolution whilst he was Prime Minister, but
Mr. Meighen wanted to be Prime Minister before his possible defeat led to that dissolution. As the full authority of the executive is vested in the King (exercised in his name by the Governor-General) Lord Byng had to decide on the issue, and he conceded Mr.
Meighen's rather reasonable plea that as Mr. King's Government had suffered defeat, he (Mr. Meighen) as the head of the largest party in the House, ought to be asked to form a Cabinet. Mr.
Meighen only remained in office for a few days when he, too, was defeated. He then obtained the dissolution which had previously been refused to Mr. King, who now proceeds to raise the constitutional issue, behind which is the thorny question of the Governor-General's right to interfere in domestic politics.

The burning question of the forthcoming election is that concerning the constitution. Mr.
King, the Liberal leader, is most vehement in his denunciation of the action of Lord Byng, whilst Mr. Meighen, for the Conservatives, defends the Governor-General's action as being strictly in accord with the constitution, which, he says, is well framed.

As by the irony of fate Lord Byng's career as Governor-General, which hitherto had been regarded as a most sagacious and successful one, threatens to close with one of the most serious political upheavals in the history of the Dominion, because there will be a demand in certain quarters for the removal of the Governor-General's supreme powers. Canada's relationship with the British Empire generally, and with the King's prerogative in particular, promises to be bitterly argued—unfortunately at a time when an Imperial Conference will be sitting in London discussing ways and means of making the Empire more closely welded together in a great Commonwealth of nations.
It would be unwise, however, to place too literal an interpretation upon the arguments of the extreme Left in Canadian politics, for the majority of Canadians are loyally attached to Britain and recognise that it is in the exigencies of the game of party politics that as much play as possible will be made out of Lord Byng's action. For ourselves, we think that Lord Byng did the right thing. When one party was beaten he gave a chance to the other, but when that second party was beaten he had to dissolve. That is how the majority of Canadians will view it, also.

Weather Contrasts.

It is apparent from Shanghai newspapers to hand that our friends in the Northern port have been having a sweltering hot summer, for scarcely a day seems to pass without deaths being recorded from the intense heat-wave which has been experienced there.
For fully three weeks on end, the thermometer has been registering well over 90 degrees, and on some days there has been a shade temperature of over 100. Life under such conditions must be extremely trying. Here in Hongkong we have been far more fortunate up to date, for the summer so far has certainly been on the cool side.
We have even had one or two days of record low temperature for the time of the year. Not that we have not experienced occasional discomfort from the humidity, but the general average of heat must surely be below normal. We have had very few of those bright, sunshiny, hot days which we usually associate with the summer months; in places thereof the weather conditions have been extremely variable. The customary south-west winds have given place to stifling spells from almost all quarters, and we have certainly had more than we have wanted in the way of rain. Indeed, it has been a rather topsy-turvy summer up to the present. However, the hot season is not yet over, and it is possible that we may have a late and prolonged summer, with plenty of heat at the tail-end.
Hongkong as a general rule escapes the extremes of temperature known to Shanghai people, for which we can be duly thankful. If our memory serves us rightly, our record shade temperature in summer is about 93, whilst we have never gone lower in winter than 32 degrees. Shanghai, on the other hand, has been away up well above the 100 mark in summer and often experiences many degrees of frost in winter.
The present year has certainly been one of strange meteorological experiences in most parts of the world, but our hope is that whatever else is in store for us, we may be spared anything in the nature of the heat-wave which Shanghai has been suffering.

with the help of the pickets he was later found by the Police.

average annual increase is 800,000. The total population of the Philippines is given as 1918. Manila is credited with 316,266.

will co-operate. The bones in question still are being kept by the Legionarios del Trabajo.
Because of the doubt of their genuineness, their burial frequently has been postponed.
It is suggested that if not identified as those of Bonifacio, the bones could be buried as those of "the unknown Filipino soldiers."

HIS EXCELLENCY'S HONOUR.

FACTS ABOUT AN ANCIENT ORDER.

In connection with the appointment of His Excellency the Governor (Sir Cecil Clementi K.C.M.G.) as Knight of Grace of the Venerable Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem, it is interesting to note that the Sovereign Head and Patron of the Order is His Majesty the King, the Grand Prior is H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught, the Titular Prior of the Priory for Wales is H.R.H.
the Prince of Wales, the Sub Prior is the Earl of Scarborough and the Prelate is the Archbishop of York.

The Chapter General of the Order consists of Knights of Justice and selected Chaplains, Knights of Grace and Esquires, whilst there are also Ladies of Justice and Ladies of Grace.
These distinctions, however, do not confer any rank or title.

Although most people are aware of the great work which the St.
John Ambulance Association and Brigade are performing in the relief of human suffering, very few people realise that those organisations have their origin in the Order of St. John—the most ancient Order of chivalry—which was in existence at the time of the Crusades.

Early in the eleventh century a hospital existed in Jerusalem to minister to the needs of the Christian pilgrims who came from all parts of Europe to visit the Holy City. When in 1087 the Crusaders besieged Jerusalem, the hospital was in charge of a body of men calling themselves "The Poor Brethren of the Hospital of St. John," and these men devoted their lives to the relief of suffering and the administration of hospitality to the pilgrims. It was around this hospital that the Order of St. John developed, and although in later years the Knights became one of the greatest military organisations in Christendom, they still maintained and developed the humanitarian side of their work, at their name—Knight Hospitaller—denotes.

Classes of instruction are now held by the Association in all parts of the British Empire, including such places
as Bermuda, Fiji Islands, Hongkong, and British Guiana.
Over 30,000 certificates are issued annually to successful candidates, in addition to about 30,000 awards to candidates who maintained their ambulance efficiency. Classes

FOKIS KIDNAPPED.

ONE SHOT WHILE TRYING TO ESCAPE.

After being captured at Tam Chau, in Chinese waters, by armed pirates, three foks were released on payment of a ransom of $90, and the fourth was shot while attempting to escape. This information is contained in a report just made to the Water Police by the master of trading junk No. T.4780H.

It appears his junk, with a crew of five, was anchored at Tam Chau alongside another boat and two foks from each boat went in a dinghy to get provisions from a third junk, which was about five hundred yards away. They were intercepted by ten armed men in a sloop, who captured the foks and took them ashore. Soldiers were brought from Shek Hau Sha, but the foks could not be found.
Through a fish dealer the pirates demanded $200 ransom; but finally agreed to take $90, which was all the money the master had, and three foks were returned.

The junk then sailed for Shek Kiu for a cargo of bricks, and arrived in Hongkong last Thursday.

For obtaining money by false pretences by posing as Mr.
A.P.F. Chapman, the well-known Kent cricketer now playing for England in the Test Match, George Charles Brandon, a collier, was at Tunbridge Wells sentenced to three months hard labour. It was stated that his father holds a high position in India, but that on leaving school the accused began to drink, which had been his downfall. The Chief Constable stated that Brandon had the chance of a brilliant career but he was the black sheep of the family.

of instruction are also under the auspices of the Association in connection with the military and police authorities, the railway companies, the mercantile marine and the fishing fleets. Divisions of the St.
John Ambulance Brigade have quickly followed the formation of Association classes, and the strength of the British Empire is now nearly 50,000.

It can therefore be seen that the St. John Ambulance movement is not an isolated society existing for the purpose of teaching First Aid, but each member of the organization belongs to the noble procession of Crusaders, stretching from the Middle Ages to the present day, united in their determination to relieve the suffering of mankind.

The Very Idea!

When you're hieing long the

byway that will take you wide and far; you are sittin' very easy, with your frets and cares behind, 'cause you've left the bakin' city, an'
there's nothin' on your mind.

As you speed along, you wonder o'er the beauty spread aroun', and you're thinkin', why in thunder are you livin' in a town? There's

Roads are wondrous as you sally turn, through the hill and dale and valley. What's the odds what gas you burn? All the fam'ly's havin' pleasure. Really thrillin', through and through. And, of course, there is a measure that is bound to come to you.

All in all, you get to thinkin'
that the world is pretty sweet.
In the open you're not drinkin' in the dust of city street. But the feeling quickly switches. Who said touring was so fine with its bumps and ruts and ditches—
when you hit a detour sign?

It was a busy tourist station in Strathpey, and Donald, the porter, was having overmuch to do to meet the competitive calls of duty.

An inquisitive tourist from South Britain buttonholed Donald to remove his luggage.
"I suppose," said he, "you see some strange sights and people here?"

"Yes, sir, yes, we do that," said Donald.

"And where do they mostly come from?" queried his interro-gator.

"Well, sir, to tell you the truth, mainly from the south."

He called upon the tailor shop,
To get a suit his aim.
'But, lo, he couldn't get a fit,
'Yet had one just the same.

Absent-minded business man

A tiger at the Bay was seen—
The lady thought it queer;
But, what was even stranger still,
'Twas merely a small deer!

Pat did so, and received a sound

"Did you feel that, Pat?" asked the priest.

"Sure I did, your reverence."

DEBTS AND LOANS.

A SUMMARY COURT CASE.

Judgment was given for the plaintiff, by Mr. Justice Wood, in the Supreme Court this morning, in a case relating to a claim for goods sold and delivered, and a loan, which were stated by the other side to have been contracted by the defendant's Tin Fong wife, who had since died. The plaintiff was Chan Chung, trading as Wing Fat, 238, Queen's Road, East, ground floor, and the defendant Wong Sham-chuen, living in the same building, on the second floor. Plaintiff claimed $45.76 for goods sold and delivered, and $80 money lent to meet the expenses of a Dragon Festival. Mr. D. McCallum was for the plaintiff, and Mr. M. K. Lo for the defendant.

At the first hearing the claim for the smaller amount was reduced to $1, by the Statute of Limitations being pleaded, and the case was adjourned until to-day. There is a further claim by the plaintiff, who alleges he has paid subscriptions as an undrawn member into two Money Loan Associations, of which the defendant was the head. Altogether he has paid in $280, the Associations have been discontinued, and he has not had any money returned to him. He claims damages for breach of trust, or, in the alternative, for money paid to the defendant for a consideration which failed.

This morning a number of women witnesses were called, who stated they had been asked to join the Associations by the defendant, and he had issued books to them. One stated that Chan Ho, the Tin Fong wife of the defendant who has since died, asked her to join, saying her husband was starting the Associations.

His Lordship said the plaintiff wanted him to believe that he supplied goods to the defendant and lent him $80. He had called two witnesses with regard to the loan. The defendant was questioned as to whether he was concerned in the Associations, and with reference to that, he said his wife wrote his name on the books without his knowledge. It depended as to whether he believed that statement or not. Further, that statement was countered by the women witnesses.

Mr. Lo pointed out that if the books were examined it would be found that the name of the defendant had been written in a different ink. He went on to deal with the books relating the details of the goods sold and delivered, and his Lordship remarked that legally they were some evidence in support of the plaintiff.

In reply to his Lordship, as to whether he was alleging falsification of books, Mr. Lo said he was in certain respects.

After considering the point and the books, his Lordship said he found the weight of evidence against that point, although it did not affect the rest of the case.

It was decided to hear the remainder of the case, dealing with the Money Loan Associations, on Tuesday next.

A PATHETIC CASE.

FISHERMAN BLINDED BY DYNAMITE.

The danger of inexpert handling of explosives was demonstrated in a recent incident when a stick of dynamite exploded whilst being carelessly handled by Chinese fishermen on the south side of the island.

One of the fishermen had one hand and the finger-tips of his other hand blown off, whilst his sight was also destroyed.

Helpless, and deprived of a living, the unfortunate fisherman, who is only thirty years of age, waits at the Central Police Station in the hope that a benevolent authority which has looked after him well during the forty days of his convalescence at the Government Civil Hospital, will do something further for him. He says he does not want to be a hawker, but would like to go back to his native village at Un Long, if the authorities would be so kind as to send him there.

Paris has "discovered" a new colour. It is called Aquamarine, and is a subtle shade of blue-green, which very charmingly suggests the clear transparency of a shallow sea. Georgette, fine silks, and heavy crepes are being dyed with this new shade, which is popular for smart-evening frocks, afternoon gowns, as well as a number of two-piece suits. When long, floating capes appear on these garments, the generous folds display to advantage the soft tones of the new shade.

BIG EMBEZZLEMENT CASE.

RAISES EXTRADITION ISSUE.

IMPORTANT MATTER.

Shanghai, July 26.—The embezzlement of $30,000 by William Chapman, former clerk of the United States Court for China, will be made a test of the laws of extradition from the United States to China and vice versa. Chapman was formerly in the Army and stationed in Manila.

It has been accepted as fact in the past that criminals wanted in America who escaped to China, could not be returned to the Pacific coast, although they were arrested in Shanghai. Similarly, the United district court in Seattle held in the Rose case five years ago, that persons who had arrived in the United States, could not be extradited.

Chapman left Shanghai ostensibly for Japan on holiday just before his statement of accounts was due. An investigation was made and it is alleged that for years he had been falsifying accounts. He arrived in Seattle on July 22.

When it became known that he had tampered a telegraphic warrant was sent by Thurston Porter, U. S. marshal to Seattle at once. L. G. Husar, prosecuting attorney in the United States Court for China, set the machinery in motion at once for the extradition of Chapman, the matter being brought before the Seattle courts.

According to legal authorities of the Settlement, the matter of extradition is of greatest importance, for if the courts should hold that Chapman can be brought to justice in Shanghai, a precedent will be set that will work for law and order, both in the Orient and the United States.

In a statement by Mr. Husar, he intimates that if he is overruled in Seattle, he will carry the fight under the removal law, to the circuit court of appeals. Should this body rule adversely, he will not stop until the Supreme Court of the United States gives a final decision. In this he has full support of the Department of Justice and the Department of State.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.

A BRIGHT PROGRAMME.

There is a very bright and attractive programme now being offered to patrons of Queen's Theatre, the star picture being "Miss Bluebeard," which features Bebe Daniels and Robert Frazer. This film is a clever adaptation of the play "Little Miss Bluebeard," by Avery Hopwood, and it deals in farcical manner with a charming woman who has too many husbands. Bebe Daniels as the joyous French actress is excellent. The Mura Shipoff Company also figure on the programme with characteristically artistic numbers.

There is another good film to be screened to-morrow, this being "Circe the Enchantress," by Vicente Blasco Ibanez, of "Four Horsesmen" fame. Miss Mae Murray will be seen in the title role.

From Thursday to Saturday, Gloria Swanson will be seen in "Manhandled," which is described as a very fine film.

LOCAL CHARTER.

THE "MONDEGO" LEAVES FOR SAIGON.

The Norwegian steamer Mondego, formerly the s.s. Standard (Captain O. Johannessen), a well-known vessel in the China Coast trade, has just finished a thorough overhaul and general repairs at the Hongkong and Whampoa Dock Company's shipyard at Kowloon.

She left there on Saturday for Saigon in order to take up her new charter in the cattle trade between Phnom Penh in Cambodia and Manila and Cebu in the Philippine Islands. As she is a shallow draft steamer—her mean draft in ballast is barely 8 feet, and with a full cargo of cattle her draft should be only 10 ft. 6 ins.—she is well suited for this run, because at Phnom Penh, which is situated fully 150 miles up the Cambodia River (just south of the Saigon River) the draft is only 12-13 feet at certain parts of the season.

The Mondego was built at Sandefjord, Norway, in 1906, by the Franes Mekaniske Verksed. She is a steamer of 894 net register tons, and 1,460 gross register tons, and carries 1,317 tons of cargo under deck. Her cubic capacity is 110,000 cubic feet, and 261,865 for bales. Her deadweight capacity, inclusive of bunkers is 2,100 tons, while her bunkers contain 353 tons. Her draft fully loaded is 17 ft. 9 in. and she is capable of making a speed of about 10 knots per hour on a consumption of about 13-14 tons of Japanese coals per day only. Her length between perpendiculars is 231 1/2, her extreme breadth is 35 1/2, and her depth of hold 19 1/2. The height of her two decks is 7 1/2, and she is arranged with air scuttles and very large hatches for a steamer of her size, which, together with four sideports, allow for plenty of ventilations. She is of the spar deck type, and in former years, when she had a Hongkong passenger licence, she used to carry 12 first-class passengers in the various cabins and about 500 coolie passengers in the tween decks. She carries ample fresh water ballast, in the amount of 290 tons. Her engines were made by the same makers as her hull, and are of the triple expansion type, and situated amidship. She has 159 nominal horse-power, and has two boilers with a heating surface of 2305 square feet.

We understand that the ship will remain on her new charter for at least six months. Messrs Karsten Larsen & Company, of Pottinger Street, are local agents for the steamer.

YAUMATI FIRE.

LITTLE DAMAGE DONE.

An outbreak of fire, which was confined to very small limits, occurred at a herbalist's shop at Shanghai Street, Yaumati, last night, two doors away from its junction with Public Square. The alarm was received by the Kowloon Station at four minutes to twelve, and within a very few minutes, the two appliances from this station were on the scene. Later, on a "home call," a third machine proceeded to the fire from the Mongkok Station.

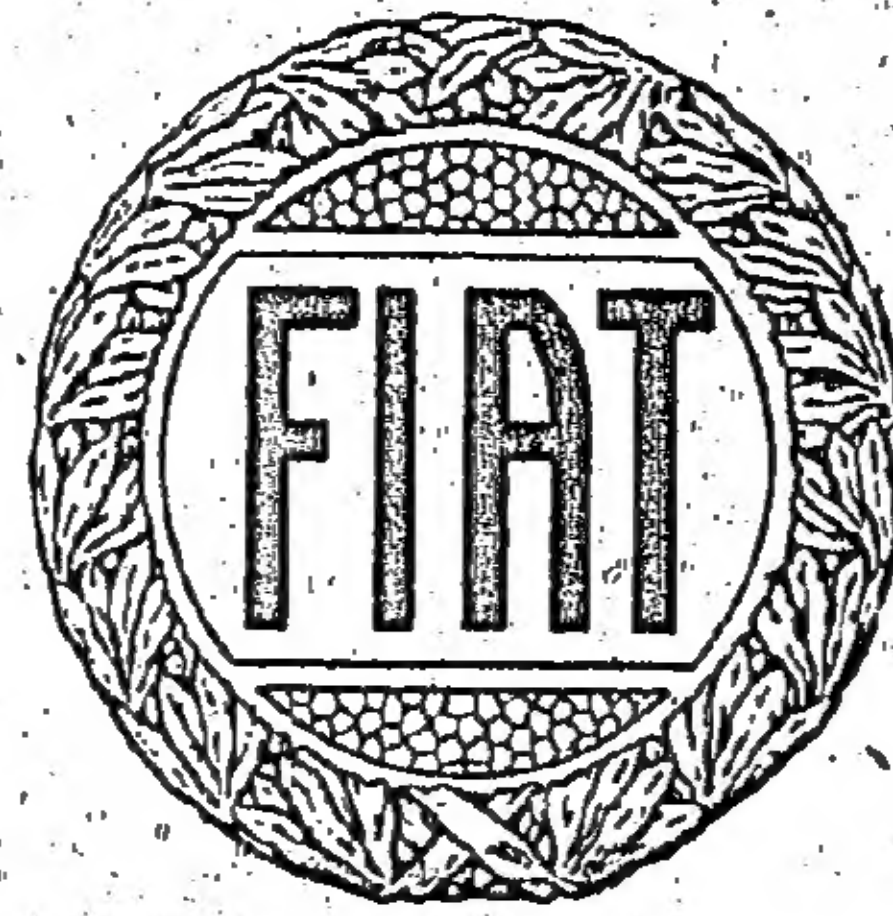

Three deliveries of hose, one from an engine, and two from the pumps, were played on to the floor, a back alley enabling a rear attack to be made with one of the hoses. Within forty-four minutes of the outbreak, the firemen were turning over the embers in the herbalist's shop, the fire having been extinguished, leaving the two upper floors intact.

Except for two holes created in the flooring, the first floor was also intact, and what damage was done was solely by water. The inmates had plenty of time to evacuate the premises and the only casualty was a cat, the dead body of which was found over one of the holes. It appears to have been smothered by the heat.

Oriel College, Oxford, has just celebrated its 600th anniversary, and 500 Oriel men commemorated the occasion.

To-day's report from the Royal Observatory states that a feeble cyclone is central over the Loochoos. The depression over China and Indo-China is not so deep. The forecast up till noon to-morrow is:—S. E. winds, moderate; cloudy, showery.

CHANNEL SWIM.

EXCITING RECEPTION.

London, Aug. 7.
Thousands of "frantically excited" people, on hearing of the approach of an unknown Channel swimmer, hurried to the spot from every direction. As Miss Ederle got nearer they collected, dry wood from which they built big bonfires as a beacon and in the glaring light vociferously cheered her on. People rushed knee deep through the surf to help her out as she reached the beach but Miss Ederle walked out, looking quite fresh. She afterwards entered a boat and was taken back to the tug where she dressed, afterward landing to take a taxi to London.

—Reuter.

Joy in America.

New York, August 7.
There are great rejoicings all over the United States concerning Miss Ederle's swim of the English Channel. "The greatest gratification is expressed that it was an American who was the first woman to cross that difficult piece of water. Her biography was broadcast last night and the newspapers devote whole pages to photographs of her and of other members of her family.—Reuter."

MOTOR RACING.

FIRST GRAND PRIX HELD IN BRITAIN.

London, Aug. 7.

The first motoring Grand Prix ever held in Britain, covering 110 laps, aggregating 287 miles, and in which there were 880 laps, was won by a Delage car, driven at first by Seneschal and later by Wagner. It won by four laps, an average of 61 miles. Campbell, driving a Bugatti, was second, and another Delage third. Nine competitors, five British and four French. The British were unplaced.

France having won the French European Grand Prix secures the world championship, the only other events concerned therein being the Indianapolis, five hundred miles, which was won by America, and the Italian Grand Prix, which is not yet decided.—Reuter.

MORRIS ROMANCE.

$5,000,000 BRITISH MOTOR FIRM.

Registration has just taken place of Morris Motors (1926) Ltd., with a capital of $5,000,000 divided into 3,000,000 Cumulative Preference and 2,000,000 Ordinary shares of £1 each.

The new company will acquire Morris Motors, Ltd., Morris Engines (Coventry), Ltd., Osberton Radiators, Ltd., and Hollick and Pratt, Ltd.

The capital of the company will be the largest of any English motor manufacturing concern. It is understood that the prospectus offering shares to the public will be available within the next week or so.

The rise of the Morris motor-car is one of the romances of British industry, and behind it is the still greater romance of its creator, Mr. W. R. Morris, who, beginning in business with not a pound of capital, has become Britain's leading motor-car king, and brought motoring within the reach of all.

How the output of Morris-Cowley and Morris-Oxford cars has grown is shown thus:

Cars Produced.

1919	337
1921	2,927
1922	5,166
1923	17,286
1924	27,551
1925	48,712
1926 (ordered)	67,000

A turnover last year of £20,000,000, 10,000 employees, and a wages bill of millions a year—such is Mr. Morris's contribution to Britain's effort to regain her pre-war industrial prosperity.

Mr. Morris never had an hour's technical or engineering education in his life. Instinct and experience have been his sole instructors.

Something of the nature of this remarkable man may be gathered from his own sayings in interviews:

His Creed.

"I have never been guided by anyone. I have always played off my own bat. I have listened to advice from bankers, auditors and solicitors, and still gone my own way when I thought they weren't seeing far enough. I have done many things altogether against engineering principles. That's how the car was made and that's how it grew."

His Faith.

"I began with nothing. I hadn't even a 25 note. But although I was only 17, I felt that W. R. Morris would pay me a higher salary than anybody else. So I started to work for W. R."

His Vision.

"Most of all, I look forward to the time when it becomes a recognised thing for a British workman to have his own car."

How He Began.

Born at Worcester 48 years ago, the son of Oxfordshire parents, W. R. Morris was educated at the village school at Cowley, a name his cars have since made known all over the world. He did not go to either college or university, and at 17 his engineering bent led him to serve a few months as an apprentice in the bicycle trade in Oxford.

Then he set up in business as a bicycle manufacturer with a staff of five assistants.

In his first year he turned out 50 bicycles and sold most of them to acquaintances. By 1900, after six years in business, he had amassed by his own efforts a capital of £2,000.

By that time the motor-car, though little more than a toy, had come to stay, and Mr. Morris, moving with the times, began making motor-cycles.

Ten years of this brought his capital to £4,000, and then he conceived the idea of making a popular light car.

Two years went in the making of the first Oxford car. It was an immediate success, and the following year saw his factory working at full pressure to meet the demand. By the outbreak of war 1,500 had been placed on the road. "All his factory plant, worn out by war work demands, had to be scrapped in 1919, and after a five years' break he had to start all over again with the idea of giving the country a popular light car."

Officers and sailors of two Swedish warships visiting Guernsey landed and marched to Delancey Park, where they deposited a wreath at the memorial to Admiral Lord De Saumarez, a Guernseyman, who commanded the British Fleet in the Battle of 1818, and whose services in protecting Sweden are remembered in that country.

COLD AUDIENCE.

COMPLAINT FROM GERMANY.

Berlin, June 28.—The audience which filled the Grosse Schauspielhaus to hear the first Berlin concert of Paul Whiteman was the coldest he has yet encountered in Europe, the jazz king says.

"In Amsterdam and London they tore the roof off," he complained to-day. "Here they were faint in applause. We were rather disappointed."

Those who know Berlin conditions, however, were astonished at the turnout for the American band. The concert, a benefit performance for the Berlin press, was completely sold out as are the coming concerts. That is a record for this year, especially considering that the performances come at the end of the season and in an immense theatre.

The first reaction of the critics gives Mr. Whiteman no cause for disappointment. Although for the most part they ignore the musical content of his programme and dismiss Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" as a theme "lifted from Chopin and Puccini mixed with the shimmy and the Charleston," they all pay tribute to the technical perfection of the orchestra. Erlich Ubban writes in the Zeitung am Mittag:

"Paul Whiteman's people are marvelous artists. They are superbly trained and disciplined and at the same time completely free and 'colloidal.' Jazz he calls 'The affirmation of life; the lifting of all heaviness, the highest individual freedom; seriousness, conquered by humor.'"

"This, he adds, is also a description of the American spirit."

HOW ACTRESSES KEEP THEIR GOOD LOOKS.

Many ladies envy their sisters of the theatrical profession, and wonder how it is that they retain the girlish freshness of complexion, the beaming eyes, and the vivacity of manner which most women lose soon after marriage if not before.

The secret is simple. It is that actresses take plenty of exercise, are careful as to diet, and pay due attention to the common-sense laws of health. That all women need, at certain times, a tonic medicine to build up the nerves and to assist nature, in her work every actress recognises, and that is the reason why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are so popular among them.

Miss Dorothy Ward, for example, who first won fame in "The Dairy-maids," at the Apollo Theatre, London, has recorded her appreciation in the following words:—"I recognise how valuable Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been in helping me to be well and keep well. What is good for the singer is good for the audience, that is why I willingly give public praise to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It is fully due to them."

All leading medicine dealers throughout the world sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and they are also obtainable, one bottle for $1.50, 6 bottles $8, post free, from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co.

Hongkong, August 4, 1926.

The headmistress of a girls' school has been shocked to notice that at certain unpleasant but witty plays the audience were more amused by the swearing than by the real wit. A case of "place aux dames," no doubt. But surely one would rather hear young innocence, if she still exists, laughing at a swear word—stage swearing is never very terrible—than giggling at unpleasant wit. Why "damn" should always be sure of a laugh on the stage she cannot say, any more than one can explain the dry humour that seems to be inherent in a kipper, which is surely free from all suggestion of moral turpitude. At any rate laughing at swearing in the theatre is a convention which is of too long standing to be taken, as a sign of the moral tendency of the age.

ALPINE TENNIS.

APPROVED BY CURATES.

Tennis at St. Moritz, Engelberg, Chamoni and other Alpine playgrounds may be divided into active players and passive spectators. For those who play are the essence of agility, being at it all day; for the less exacting joys of golf and the fatiguing ascent of the neighbouring mountains, these tireless enthusiasts are never far off the courts. Other persons who summer in Switzerland and Haute Savoie are content to seek the chamois and the eagle in their rocky and snow-bound lairs. Elderly English ladies, with inherited early-Victorian tastes, call the blue gentian and the hill pansy; they even scale those icy heights where the edelweiss coyly hides itself. Curates, happy in the thought that they will not be called upon to preach or to district-visit, incessantly climb the mountains and improve their innocent minds.

The last named, however, find time to watch the evening game. Supine in long cane chairs (the quest of the blue gentian may be tiring), and feeling that the day has been virtuously spent, they look on and applaud. Particularly appreciative of a good stroke are the curates—they clap like any paid claqueur.

BACKING THEIR FANCY.

Tennis is in the air. With the morning coffee and honey on the hotel terrace the matches which have been arranged for the day are discussed. Sporting British clerks, who are on a holiday jaunt (engineered by one of the innumerable tourist agencies), boldly venture a saved-up five francs on the result. The botanizing ladies, though sedately refraining from backing their fancy, promise themselves the pleasure of watching an after-ten game. The golfers and the mountaineers, reluctantly forego a late afternoon round and climb, respectively, that they may hover about the courts. At each open-air restaurant ten-table the players' form is the only topic, and after dinner further interest is taken in the engrossing subject. There is no getting away from it.

The little boys—merry urchins who say the balls for fifty centimes an hour are as keen as mustard on the game. But they do not play in their spare time, the movies being found a greater attraction, particularly if a Lenglen match film is shown. Some lads, intent on earning a few extra francs, mend split balls and even restring racquets. They literally are pursued by tennis in one form or another.

A SUPERFLUOUS LUXURY.

Some of the hotels possess courts, and in any case the local Kurverein or Societe d'Initiative sees to it that all who want to play gratify their taste. The Kurtaxe (a daily trifle) goes towards the upkeep of the public courts, and the charge by the hour is not breaking, varying from three francs to six. With the pound at a hundred and forty and the dollar at twenty, none dare complain of being fleeced. Whether in the Highlands or the Lowlands of Switzerland, at Annecy or at Chamoni (beneath the shadow of snow-capped Mount Blanc), one may play as inexpensively as anywhere in Europe. The only instance to the contrary is furnished by the Kurverein which provides a professional. He is supposed to invest the place with an added glamour, his services being charged for accordingly. Yet, the luxury is unnecessary. Those who disport themselves on Alpine courts usually are the equal of any professional. All the world, American, British and French, plays a first-rate game, the American visitors particularly distinguishing themselves. There is, by the way, an exception; the German tennis-playing element in Switzerland does not show to advantage.

The courts almost invariably are earthen, lawn being practically unknown. True, the clunder substitute occasionally is to be met with in the Engadine, where, thanks to an altitude of six thousand feet, the air is like champagne. But for every stray instance there are quite fifteen to the contrary—perhaps more. As to asphalt, it is rare.

ORATORY AND WINE.

There are many tournaments, especially in the larger townlets, those which take place under French auspices sometimes being very ceremonious affairs. The Maitre (dressed all in his Sunday best and shaved for the occasion) is present, the head official of the district—probably an over-corpulent politician—giving away the prizes and making at least two long speeches. During the discourse reference is made to the first Olympic games of the early Greeks, to the charm of the Alps, and to the skilled play of the competitors. Should the orator's breath hold out, he is certain to expatiate upon the fascinations of the women-players, and to draw attention to the local racquet and ball shop. Incidentally, he is an important shareholder in the establishment.

At the conclusion of the oration, which has been listened to with a good deal of impatience by a proportion of the visitors, the super-fatted speaker drinks a general health in champagne. The extra-sweet variety is on tap.

WINNERS' DISHES.

When the tournament is held on the courts of an hotel, a the-dan-sant follows the speech-making and prize-giving. At dinner that night the principal dishes are named after the winners, the conductor of the orchestra composing a shimmy in honour of the occasion. Sometimes fireworks follow, especially in the Engadine.

Nuremberg, Germany, June 30. Germany, once purveyor of toys to the whole world, not only faces an alarming falling off in her toy exports but is unable to stem the tide of foreign toys inundating the German markets. At the present time Germany is exporting only 24 per cent. of the toys she sent abroad in 1913, while the imports again equal those of 1913, and with prospects of a steady increase. The United States heads the imports list for 1925, chiefly in rubber toys.

U. S. FILM MONOPOLY.

MANDATE TO ABOLISH BLOCK BOOKING.

Emphatic and tangible steps have been taken by the Kinematograph Exhibitors' Association of Great Britain and Ireland to put an end to the system whereby the country is flooded with American films to the great detriment of British productions. A ballot of the members of the Association has been taken on the question of "block booking" of films, with the following result:

For abolition 1,704
Against abolition 198

Majority for abolition, 1,506

The poll represents 71 per cent. of the membership. "Block booking" is the system whereby film trusts, holding the whip-hand, force exhibitors to take their whole output for a year ahead, before their productions are completed or even planned, and without the buyers or renters having an opportunity of viewing the goods in advance. In this way British exhibitors, in order to secure an important or desirable film, are forced to take with it other minor pictures, which

Are Often Mere Trash.

The result is that the exhibitor has no room in his programme for home productions, which therefore are squeezed out of the market. The mandate given by the K.E.A. members is an important advance towards a settlement of the problems facing the British film industry. Mr. W. N. Blake, president of the association, declares that they are now going to ask their council to confer with the film renters and try to gain their co-operation in giving effect to the vote. "I am now determined," he added, "that block booking shall be abolished absolutely, and that there shall be no loopholes left for anyone to get through. Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, President of the Board of Trade, has promised us that if the various interests cannot be safeguarded by agreement, the Government will introduce legislation immediately."

work under guard, but they were so intimidated by the accused that they could not work under any circumstances.

PUT IN IRONS.

Continuing, Captain Burton said that at seven o'clock he had the accused put in irons. They called on the loyal men for rescue and ultimately he had them removed from the ship. They were housed in a place of detention and sent to Hongkong on the President Jackson.

Interrupting, Lieut. Commr.
Hole said the men had evidently conspired to impede the navigation of the vessel. He would add a further charge of combining to disobey the master's orders.

The Chief Engineer corroborated.

ADMISSIONS.

One of the men, who swore on the Koran, and spoke on behalf of the others, admitted the refusal to work, and said that the firemen were refused passes, while the sailors had been granted passes. Their point was that they were all part of the crew of the same ship and if the sailors were granted passes, the firemen should also have that privilege. They denied interference with other men.

The second engineer, Mr.
Thomas McKinnay, went into the box at the request of the Marine Magistrate. He told the Court that he instructed one of the loyal men to stoke up a fire, but the man was prevented by five of the accused men.

SECOND ENGINEER OBSTRUCTED.

He endeavoured to raise steam himself, but when he opened the air valves, five of the men in dock closed them. They told him that they would not allow steam to be raised.

Lieut. Commr. Hole said he was satisfied with the evidence.
He found all the prisoners guilty on both charges.

Mr. Andrews drew his Wor-ship's attention to the fact that the Company held money due to the men as wages.

Sentencing them several to four weeks' hard labour on the first count and twelve weeks' hard labour on the second, Lieut. Commr. Hole directed that their wages be used as maintenance while the men were in prison, the residue to go towards the cost of their repatriation to Bombay.

NEVER KNOWN WORSE CASES.

"When I said that I would not give a seaman more than three months' imprisonment," concluded his Worship, "I referred to the count on which they were then charged, which I regard as a technical one. The charge which was added amounts to very much more than that. It is an act of mutiny and I cannot take any other view than a most serious
one. In the course of ten years on the bench, this is the first case of this sort which has come before me. I have never known a worse case."

EMPLOYERS' VIEWPOINT.

In asking their employees to agree on a wage cut of from 20 to 30 per cent. the manufacturers feel that they are making a reasonable request. They now are paying from 30 to 60 per cent. higher than what is paid in the smaller establishments in Manila. The present scale, which is the same for all the large concerns, was put into effect in 1920 and has remained unchanged since then.
The rate paid to the cigar makers for the United States brands of five cent cigars is from P8 to P16 per 1,000. The average cigar maker receives about P12 per week. The manufacturers feel that since employees in other factories are receiving so much less, their men can afford to accept a cut which still will leave them on a considerably higher scale than the former. Otherwise, no work at all, says the manufacturer.

movements of the Revolutionary Army, but on the contrary, the infusions around Tungting Lake, which covers a vast area of territory, are preventing the Northern Army from getting into touch with the forces under Young Sun, which are working down from Szechuan to join the new defeated forces of Ho Yew-tai. Furthermore, by suspending hostilities in the regions of the Tung Ting Lake, the Revolutionary Army can now devote a greater part of its energy to Kiangai. It is stated in the camps of the Revolutionary Army that success of arms in Kiangai is assured, owing to the state of unpreparedness of the Kiangai forces, and the fact that the promised reinforcements from Wu Pei-fu and Sun Chuan-fang are not yet in sight.

Miss Eleanor Leigh, organiser of the Equal Citizenship Political Rights demonstration in Hyde Park has received the following letter from Mr. G. Bernard Shaw's secretary:—"Mr. Bernard Shaw desires me to say that women must fight their own battles. He is not to be lured into the ridiculous position of their male champion.
He is not sure that an agitation for raising the voting age to 50 for males would not be the most effective way of drawing public attention to the discrepancy. As the pressmen have now the Times on their side, and Lord Birkenhead has virtually thrown up the sponge, they do not need any assistance from Mr. Shaw, the letter concludes.

THEATRICAL TASTE.

THE DECLINE OF PUKKA.

[By Alan Bott.]

The stage may or may not mirror life, but its tendencies in any period reflect that period's mood.
This is so much a platitude that it is hardly necessary to recall the witty bawdiness of the Restoration dramatists, the fine-mannered comedies of late in the eighteenth century, or the stern, oh-so-noble dramas of the middle of the nineteenth.

Consider "pukka," first in terms of the English outlook. The Code, you know, and the public school spirit, Huntin', shootin', fishin', and the squirearchy.
Youthful sons carving the far-flung corners of Empire, Kipling, Sahibs, Kitchener. Beautiful, in-nately decent women that yet, on occasion, dare all for love. Tight-lipped, innately chivalrous men et dona ferentes. In telegraphic sentences half-nodded to their friends, they hint a moment's and there the matter ends.

All this had a good innings on the English stage. It was dramatised by Sir Arthur Pinero, sentimentalised by Sir James Barrie, analysed by Mr. Henry Arthur Jones. Even Oscar Wilde magnified it through its foibles. Mr.
Bernard Shaw was the first playwright to have a hearty whack at
it. Pukka contains a great deal that is admirable, but praise of it had been exaggerated into absurdity.

It did not need much of a shove from Mr. Bernard Shaw in plays and prefaces, from Mr. Beerbohm and other in humorous art, from the Bergsonians in philosophy, and the Fabians in politics, to start a reaction. This was intensified by the disillusion after the war, when the word changed its status in the sense that the Victorian adjective "genteel" had changed.

Harlequin of Modern Manners.

Enter, then, Mr. Noel Coward, harlequin of twentieth century manners, Punchinello, with a string of gay, lurid sausages taken from the stall of post-war preciosity.

Mr. Coward's lightning success happened in part because he has a rich sense of comedy and because he is an almost too brilliant young man. Another reason was that he managed to turn theatrical pukka inside out.

He showed us, in "The Vortex," a group of people who ten years earlier would have been represented as sahil-sinners that, in the end, either paid the wages of sin or else overcame their own weaknesses.

Mr. Coward's way was to turn them into contemporary versions of Moliere's precieuses ridicules, plus dope and a suggestion of sexual duality. They were very amusing, quite pathetic, and they vaguely pointed a casual moral. A new, or apparently new, genre of stage puppets have been made out of the classes that formerly provided "pukka" characters.

The decline of pukka on the stage is shown yet more clearly through the different versions of "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," which has been written again and again. It is no accusation of any sort to say that a dramatist has used themes used by earlier dramatists.
To declare that Mr. Lonsdale and Mr. Coward have echoed the situtions built around Sir Arthur Pinero's Paula Tanqueray is only to declare that they did what Shakespeare often did.

Shadows of Paula.

The original Paula Tanqueray was an adventuress-pitchforked by marriage amid pukka corre-ctitude and intolerance. Since she was created in the age of pukka, Sir Arthur loaded the dice in favour of the country Englishwomen when it came to a contest for sympathy between them and her.

Shadows of Paula crowded the plays between 1894 and 1914, and we have no more seen the last of her than we have of Mrs. Cheyne.
Indeed, Mr. Lonsdale's Mrs. Cheyne is a bit of a Paula. She is an unwilling crook, manoeuvred into a pukka house-party. Note the change. The audience is persuaded to champion her, and the pukkas are obliged to save her good name and nominate one of themselves to make an honest woman of her.

Meanwhile, pukka seems to have swung furthest away from admiration in Mr. Coward's "Easy Virtue." Here the Paula is a French divorcee who has known men and cities—if you can call Cannes and Deauville cities. She has married a young pukka whose mother and sister are dull, intolerant, relentless and silly. They overwhelm her with suspicion and recrimination and drive her back to the men and the artificial cities.

"So this," says the French Paula, "is English country life!"
Alas, poor pukka!

Pukka an Underdog.

There is again hope for pukka, in that Mr. Coward and the rest of its satirists have loaded the dice far more heavily than did the pre-Pinero dramatists. We now sympathise with Pukka, as with all under-dogs.

For Mr. Coward's portrayal of English country life is not a portrait, nor even a caricature. It is

PRIZES FOR LARGE FAMILIES.

FATHER OF 17 WINS.

Substantial prizes are annually given in Lincolnshire for big families and long service, and the awards for this year, were made at the opening of the Lincolnshire Agricultural Society's Show at Louth. In the class for big families Joseph Maltby, of Lincoln, won premier honours with 17 children born, fourteen of whom had been brought up, and thirteen placed in situations without receiving parochial relief. There were ten entrants, and the total number of children was 130, giving an average of 13 for each family.

travesty. As for Cannes, Deauville and so forth—heaven! the pretentiousness, the cupidity and fundamental stupidity that frequently exist beneath the surface poise and "understanding" which he plorifies through his Paula.

So perhaps pukka, having reached the end of one swing of the pendulum of theatrical taste, is about to swing back into favour.
Indeed I believe that in manners as well as on the stage we shall soon note a revival in modified pukka.

And it may be that Mr. Coward, when his streak of bitterness has thinned down and his abundant talent has mellowed, will grant it the right to exist. I hope so, for his and our sakes. It is so easy for a Young Master to become an Old Fogey when he reaches the thirties.
